* Stopovers not permitted. Award levels based on redemption from a single account. U.S. citizens traveling to an international destination must present return ticket at time of check-in. Redeem awards on any Hawaiian Airlines flight even when award seat capacity has been reached by using twice the miles. Award seats are in great demand on some flights and we recommend making your reservations as far in advance as possible. But when the award capacity on a flight has been reached, you'll be able to redeem awards with twice the miles of regular awards. For example, a roundtrip to Las Vegas would be 60,000 miles instead of 30,000. But remember, it's twice the miles only when the award seat capacity on a flight has been reached.
